

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

THE long established reputation of DEBRETT'S BARONETAGE, and the extensive patronage it has been uniformly honoured with, render it unnecessary for the Proprietors, in offering the present Edition to the Public, to say more than that the Editor has spared neither time nor trouble in the endeavour to render the present Edition as accurate as far as the nature of a Work involving so many dates, and to be obtained from such a variety of sources, would permit. Amongst other improvements in the present Edition, in order to afford a greater facility of reference, an Alphabetical arrangement has been adopted, and the Armorial Bearings incorporated with the Text. A List of the Existing Baronetcies, arranged in order of Precedence, has been prefixed to the whole.

The Proprietors have to return their thanks to those Baronets (too numerous to be individually mentioned) who have been kind enough to transmit to the Editor, particulars respecting their families. They most respectfully entreat a continuance of similar favours, for, though industry and application may collect the history of past generations from other sources, the present state of families can be furnished only by the existing members of the families themselves.

On the subject of Communications, the Editor solicits most earnestly, and will thankfully receive any information (authenticated by a signature) relative to the present state of the families which form the subject of this Work: correct dates of births, marriages, and deaths; and, more especially, the Christian names of children. Where a communication may refer to the origin or earlier genealogy of a family, he will give it his best attention: but he must be allowed to compare it with such other authorities on the same subject as he has access to, and finally to exercise his own discretion as to using it or not.

. Address to the Editor, under cover to MR. PICKERING, Chancery Lane; or to any other of the Publishers.

THE title of Baronet is an hereditary dignity, intermediate in rank between the Peerage and Knighthood. The Order was founded by King James the First in 1611, and owes its origin to the laudable anxiety of that monarch for the settlement and civilization of Ireland. That country, during nearly the whole reign of his predecessor, had been desolated by wars of the most remorseless description: the rebels, or native Irish, were at length completely subdued by Elizabeth, but so late in her reign, that the task of civilizing the people she had conquered, of reconciling them to laws and industry, of rendering their obedience durable, and their subjection useful to the crown of England, devolved entirely on her successor. In this work, according to Hume, King James proceeded by so steady, regular, and well connected a plan, that in the short space of nine years he made more advances towards the reformation of that kingdom than had been made in the four hundred and forty years which had elapsed since the conquest of it was first attempted.

The province of Ulster had been particularly depopulated during the wars, and its whole proprietorship vested in the crown by the attainder and forfeiture of the rebels: for its settlement, English adventurers were encouraged to go over, grants of land were made to them, and to any Englishman who would undertake to maintain thirty soldiers there for three years, at the rate of 8*s.* per day, and to remit the first year's pay into the English Treasury, the degree of BARONET was held out as an honorary reward, with a solemn undertaking on the part of the Sovereign, that neither he nor his successors would at any time in future institute a degree of hereditary dignity that should intervene between the Baronets and the Peerage of the realm. To mark more strongly the object of this Institution, every Baronet was authorized to add in a canton or escoccheon on the armorial bearings of his family the arms of the province of Ulster, being "a sinister hand, couped at the wrist gules," or, as it has since been more familiarly termed, the bloody hand.

At the first institution of the Order, its numbers were limited to 200; and its members carefully selected from the most wealthy and distinguished families of landed gentry. In subsequent periods, although landed property and interest has always been much regarded in these promotions, many other considerations, arising out of the circumstances of the times and the progress of society, have been allowed to direct the royal favour. In the reign of the first Charles it was at once the stimulus and reward of devoted loyalty; by his son, it was often bestowed as an honorary recompense for sufferings and attachment, on which he was unable or unwilling to confer more solid remuneration. As the commerce of our country increased, the wealthy and distinguished Merchant learned to look forward to it as the well earned meed of long continued and successful industry. In the latter, we have seen it associated with all that was eminent in science, respectable in wealth, or distinguished in public service, whether civil or military; the man who scorning, even in youth, the allurements of riches, braved the dangers of every clime in the pursuit of science, and dedicated his whole after-life to its promotion; the profound and upright dispenser of the Laws; the Physician, who arrested the progress, or soothed the pains of disease; the Philosopher, who subjected to chains the element of fire; and the Poet, whose genius has shed a lustre on the literature of his times, will be found, associated with the Heroes of the Nile, of Trafalgar, and of Waterloo, and with the statesmen whose exertions at home sustained and directed the efforts of the warrior, and supplied the means of victory, in the list of BARONETS created by his Majesty George the Fourth and his Royal Father.

The rank and precedence of Baronets is immediately after the younger sons of Barons, and before all Knights, whether of the Orders or Knights Bachelors, except Knights of the Garter and Knights Bannerets created in open war under the Royal Banner displayed, the King himself, or the Prince of Wales being present. Commoners, however, who are of His Majesty's Privy Council, the Chancellors of the Exchequer and of the Duchy of Lancaster, the Judges, the Master of the Rolls, and the Vice-Chancellor take precedence of Baronets.

The eldest son of a Baronet, until 19 Dec. 1827, might, on coming of age, claim the honour of Knighthood, by virtue of a clause in the Patent of Creation, inserted therein in pursuance of a provision of letters patent, granting, amongst other things, that privilege, which King James issued about a twelvemonth after the foundation of the Order. His Majesty George the Fourth, however, was pleased, by letters patent of the above-mentioned date, to revoke and annul those of King James so far as the said privilege is concerned, and to declare that in future no such covenant should be inserted.

I. Sir JOHN, 1st bart. engaged very zealously in the service of king Charles I. and greatly impaired his fortune, not only by raising, but supporting at his own charge, a party with which he garrisoned his house at Columb-John; which at one time, as lord Clarendon remarks, was the only force the king had in the co. of Devon to control the power of the earl of Stamford, then at Exeter. Upon the decline of the king's affairs, his house was plundered, and himself fined for his delinquency, by the commissioners at Goldsmith's Hall, £1800; which, not being thought sufficient, was afterwards, by vote in parliament, increased to £4000; but upon great application it was reduced to the first fine. He was, in consideration of his services, advanced to the degree of baronet; but, amidst the confusion of the civil wars, the letters patent were destroyed, and new ones not being granted till 21 Jan. 1677, by reason of a long minority in this family, there was in them inserted a special clause of precedence, from the date of the first, 24 June 1644. THIS family is said to be descended from Grimbald, who came into England with his kinsman William, earl Warren, at the Norman invasion, and settled at Letheringset, near Holt, in Norfolk. His great-grandson, Robert, took the name of Bacon.

The above-named Robert had a brother, sir William, of Monks-Bradfield, in Suffolk; from whom descended, in the 10th generation,

SIR NICHOLAS BACON, who filled the office of lord-keeper of the great seal to queen Elizabeth, and d. 20 Feb. 1579, having m. 1st, Jane Fernley, and 2dly, Anne, one of the 6 das. of sir Anthony Cook, of Giddy Hall, co. Essex, one of the tutors of king Edward VI. By his 2d wife he had 2 sons, the younger of whom was that great luminary of modern science, sir Francis Bacon. He was b. 22 Jan. 1550-1, was of Trinity College, Cambridge, and afterwards of Gray's Inn; appointed counsel-extraordinary to the queen, 1588, solicitor-general to king James I. 1607, attorney-general, 1613, a privy-counsellor, 1616, lord keeper, March 1616-17, and lord-chancellor, 1618; created baron Verulam in the same year, and viscount St. Albans, 20 Jan. 1620-1; but being shortly afterwards accused of corrupt practices, and confessing in a great measure his guilt, he was sentenced, on the 3d of May 1621, to be fined £40,000, and to be imprisoned in the Tower during his majesty's pleasure: was rendered incapable of holding any office, sitting in parliament, or coming within the verge of the court. After a short imprisonment his fine was remitted, and it is probable the whole of his sentence was cancelled, as he was again summoned to parliament in the first year of Charles I. He d. 9 April 1626, having by his labours in retirement, during the latter part of his life, made a brilliant atonement for his errors. He

Sir Nicholas, the lord keeper, by his 1st wife, had three sons and three daughters.

1. Sir NICHOLAS BACON, the eldest son, was possessed, upon the death of his father, of very large estates in Suffolk and Norfolk. He was knighted 22 Aug. 1578, and had afterwards the honour to be the first person advanced to the baronetage on the institution of that dignity by James I.; m. Anne, sole da. and h. of Edmund Butts, esq. and by her (who d. 1616) had issue, MOTTOES—(Over the first crest) Certamine summo.—(Over the second crest) Fear God.

This family appears to have possessed Bishopton, in Renfrewshire, with lands in the counties of Stirling and Ayr, long prior to the date of any charters they have preserved. Allan de Brisbane, son of William de Brisbane, obtained a grant of the lands of Macherach, in Stirlingshire, to which Malcolm, earl of Wigton, (so created 1334,) is a witness; William Brisbane was chancellor of Scotland in 1332.

JOHN BRISBANE obtained a charter in 1407 for infesting him as heir to his father, John Brisbane, in the lands of Bishopton; he was succeeded by his son, John, whose grandson, Matthew, fell at the battle of Flodden in 1513, leaving his brother, John Brisbane, his heir, whose son, John, fell at the battle of Pinkie in 1547; fourth in descent from the last named was John Brisbane, of that ilk, who, having no surviving male issue, settled his estate of Brisbane on his eldest da. Elizabeth, on her marriage with his nephew, James Shaw, who upon the decease of his father-in-law assumed the surname and arms of Brisbane; his eldest son, JOHN BRISBANE, of Brisbane, esq. m. Margaret, da. of sir Archibald Stewart, of Blackhall, and had issue,

1. JAMES, his heir.
2. THOMAS, m. 1715, Isabel, da. of sir Thomas

Nicolson, of Ladykirk, and had issue,

1. Thomas, heir to his uncle.
2. John, admiral R.N. who had, besides other issue, sir Charles and sir James Brisbane, both distinguished officers in the royal navy.
3. Stuart; 4. Alexander; 5. Charles.

THE Brookes are a family of great antiquity, settled originally co. Chester. William Broke (for so this family spelt their name till the 17th century) was living in 1159; he was the immediate ancestor of the Oakley branch of this family; the 7th in descent from him was sir Nicholas Broke, who is stated in the county visitations in the heralds' office to have m. the da. of sir John Rush, knt. and to have been lord of the manor of Chester-waver, co. Warwick, where he was buried, 10 Sept. 1271. Ancient pedigrees state that Roger Broke, or de Broke, as Brydges styles him in his "History of Northamptonshire," m. temp. Edward I. Agnes, one of the das. and co-heiresses of Philip de Coveley, who possessed the manors of Holdenby and Ravensthorp; and that Edward Broke, temp. Edward II. m. the heiress of sir Edward Gournay, knt. The visitations in the college of arms state that William Broke (4th in descent from sir Nicholas) m. the niece of sir Thomas Billinge, lord chief justice, 6 Edward IV. He appears by various family-deeds, copies of which are in the British Museum, (vide Harleian Catalogue, No. 4028, p. 166, 170—175,) to have exchanged the manors of Astwell, Fawcote, and Wappenham, co. Northampton, (24 April, 11 Edward IV.) with Thomas Lovett, for the manors and towns of Great Oakley and Rushton, and other considerable estates in the parishes of Bulwick, Henswicke, Stanion, Newton, Weekly, and Little Oakley, in the same county. This exchange took place on the marriage of his son, John, with Margaret Lovett. The said John m. 2dly, Isabel, da. of Thomas Wake, of Blisworth, styled the great Wake, who was representative co. Northampton the greater part of his life: by this 2d marriage, he had issue, Thomas Broke, who m. the da. of Giles Poulton, of Desborough: his son, Thomas Broke, m. Jane, h. of Thomas Moore, of Bourton, co. Bucks, who was wedded, through the Paulsets, from Joan, wife of Gilbert de Clare, earl of Gloucester, the da. of Edward I.: his son, Arthur Broke, m. Catharine, da. of sir

Edward Watson, of Rockingham, grandda. of sir Edward Montague, of Boughton, chief-justice of England, which said Catharine was also descended from the above-named Joan, by her 2d husband, Ralph de Mont-hermer.

Sir Thomas Broke, son of Arthur, m. Judith Shugburgh, descended from Guy, earl of Warwick, and William the Conqueror. Edward Broke, his brother, m. the da. of sir William Pelham, knt. and settled in Ireland, where he was muster-master-general. Arthur, son of sir Thomas, m. Dorothy, eldest da. of sir Thomas Neville, knt. of Holt, co. Leicester, descended from Neville, lord-high-admiral to William the Conqueror.

Thomas, son of Arthur, was member co. Northampton, 5th, 6th, and 7th Charles II. and m. Margaret, da. of sir John Walter, co. Oxford, knt. lord chief baron of the exchequer. Arthur, son of Thomas, m. Dorothy, da. and h. of William Wheelows, of Gayton, esq. who was gentleman of the privy chamber to Charles II. Arthur, his son, 22d in lineal descent from William, 1st mentioned, m. Mary, only surviving child of that very eminent divine, Zaccheus Isham, D.D. prebendary of St. Paul's, &c. and had issue two das.; Mary, the eldest, and Dorothy, the wife of Thomas-Cecil Maunsell, of Thorpe Malsor, esq. who d. without issue; Mary, m. Richard Supple, of Ahadoe, co. Cork, esq. and had issue, one child, sir RICHARD-BROOKE DE-CAPELL-BROOKE, 1st bart. who, on the death of his father in 1797, changed his name to Brooke, as directed by the will of his great uncle, Wheeler Brooke, esq. and at the same time obtained the royal licence to re-assume the name of De Capell, the original paternal name of this family: his ancestor, Philip-de-Capell, having gone over to Ireland with Robert Fitzstephen in the reign of Henry II. and having been present with him at the conquest of the kingdom of Cork, who, for his services, granted to him and his heirs the estate of Ahadoe and other considerable property in that county, held by knight's service, and the payment of a pair of spurs annually at Easter (vide the grant in Birmingham Tower). This estate, subject to the same quit-rent, has been in possession of the family to the present time; and it appears by the Down survey in the castle of Dublin, to be described as the property of William Supple, esq. English Protestant.

Keating, in his "History of Ireland," p. 552, mentions the name of Supple, as one of those remaining who were descended from the English who first settled in Ireland. Edward Grimstone, serjeant-at-arms 1615, published a translation from the French of a work relative to Ireland, in which this family are mentioned as gentlemen of note at that period, and as descended from English ancestors. An ancient MS. in the British Museum gives a list of English families who came into Ireland in the reign of Henry II. Richard I. and king John, (vide No. 4814, Plut. D.;) and among these names occurs James Chappell, otherwise Capell, otherwise Supple, baron.

William-Supple Fitz Edmund, 1628, m.

Catharine, da. of sir Richard Smythe, of Ballynatra, and grandda. of Roger Boyle, father of the 1st earl of Cork, and from whom are descended the earls of Cork and Shannon. William-Supple, his son, m. the sister of sir William Fitzgerald; and, 2dly, — Uniascke. William, his son by the 1st wife, m. the da. of Garret Fitzgerald, of Lesquinland, esq. By these intermarriages, the family became nearly allied with the Desmond family and the Fitzgeralds of Cloyne. SEAT—At Haccomb, near Chudleigh, co. Devon.

THE family of Carew is of great antiquity, cos. Devon and Cornwall, being descended in common with the Fitzgeralds, dukes of Leinster, Fitzmaurices, earls of Kerry, Windsors, earls of Plymouth, and many other noble houses from Otho or Other, a powerful English baron in the time of king Edward the Confessor, whose son, Walter-Fitz Other, was, at the general survey of England, 1078, castellan of Windsor. For many generations the heads of the Carew family are described as barons Carew in England, and Hidron in Ireland, though they do not appear to have sat in parliament as such, with the exception of Nicholas de Carew, who was one of those who subscribed the celebrated barons' letter to the pope, anno 1300, until George Carew was created baron Carew, and afterwards earl of Totness, by king James I.

By reference to the records in the office of Ulster king of arms of Ireland, it appears that the Milesian family of Conroy, formerly written Mulconry, O'Mulconry, and O'Mulconaire, is of great antiquity, assuming its descent from Nuillus Magnus, monarch of Ireland, A.D. 400; this family enjoyed for many successive generations the hereditary office of Seanachie to the kings of Connaught.

The early part of the pedigree is to be found in the register entitled "Funerel Entries of the Nobility and Gentry of Ireland," one of the books of record in Ulster's office for the year 1637, where the funeral and lineage of Moylin O'Mulconry was registered, and himself stated to be the 43d in lineal descent of this ancient family. The said MORGAN O'MULCONRY m. Catherine, da. of Teigue O'Flanigan, of Coancloin, co. Roscommon, and left issue, THORNA O'MULCONRY, esq. his eldest son, m. Evelyn, da. of Ferdoragh Mac Brennan, of Clonicavian, co. Roscommon, and dying 1648, was succeeded by his only son,

JOHN CONROY, or O'MULCONRY, esq. who having taken part in the civil war of 1649, suffered from the confiscations to which the native families were so repeatedly subject, and was compelled to fly to France, where, dropping the two first syllables of his name, he married, and died leaving two sons, of whom the eldest,

CHARLES CONROY, esq. obtained from king Charles II. a regrant, dated 18 Aug. 1678, of a small portion of the confiscated property, which was again lost by the adherence of this gentleman to the cause of king James II. and being slain at the battle of the Boyne, 1690, was succeeded by his brother and heir, FRAFPASSA CONROY, of Bettyville, co. Roscommon, esq. first protestant of this family, m. Elizabeth Aylmer, and d. 1746, leaving an only son,

JOHN CONROY, esq. b. 1704, m. 1747, Elizabeth, da. and sole heiress of Robert Foulke, of Mallow, esq. (descended of the ancient family of Foulke, of Gonston, co. Stafford,) and left issue,

1. JOHN-PONSONBY, of whom hereafter.
2. ELIZABETH, b. 1750, m. Robert Longfield, esq.

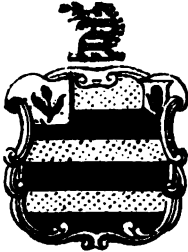

3. CATHERINE, m. Walter Hore, of Seafield, co. Wexford, esq. nephew of the earl of Courtown.

1. a SON, b. 25 July 1838.

ARMS—Quarterly, per fesse indented, azure and argent; in the first quarter, a lion passant guardant, or.

CREST—A wyvern sable, vulned in the side, gules.

It has been remarked that this family "presents one of the very few instances in which property has descended from father to son for more than seven hundred years," and that "in almost every generation, from the commencement of the 14th century, records exist of the public services of its representatives."

The name is undoubtedly Saxon; and in Domesday Book, Bernard de Croft is stated to have held the tenement of Croft in Herefordshire, which continued in the possession of his descendants until the last century. In 1274, Roger de Croft was sub-escheator for that county. Sir Hugh de Croft, lord of Croft, was created a knight of the bath, 33 Edw. I.; was M.P. for the county of Hereford 1315; and in a contemporary roll of arms he is said to have used the same bearings as have been borne by his descendants, but his ancestors bore that coat without the lion.

His son, Hugh, was a justice of assize 1338, and was succeeded by his son, sir John de Croft, who was frequently employed in negotiations in Flanders, between 1402, when he was captain of Merk Castle, near Calais, and 1404. By Janet, 3d da. and co-h. of the renowned Owen Glendower, he had issue, William, whose son, sir Richard, was one of the most distinguished soldiers of his times, and a zealous partisan of the House of York. At the battle of Tewkesbury he took the prince of Wales prisoner, and having brought him before Edward, the young prince was barbarously murdered, though without sir Richard's participation in the deed. He was sheriff co. Hereford in the 10th, and knight of the shire for that county in the 17th Edw. IV. In 1 Hen. VII. he was treasurer of the king's household; and at the battle of Stoke, 1487, was created a knight banneret: at the death of prince Arthur, 1502, sir Richard was steward of his household; and d. very aged in 1509.

His son, sir Edward, was several times sheriff of Herefordshire; and was one of the counsel to the princess Mary; he d. 1547, and was succeeded by his son, Richard the father of sir James Croft, whose name so frequently occurs in the history of the reigns of Edward VI. Mary, and Elizabeth, as governor of Haddington, and lord deputy of Ireland, 1551; deputy constable of the Tower, 1552; governor of Berwick, 1559; comptroller of the household, and privy counsellor, 1570; knight of the shire co. Hereford, 5th, 13th, 28th, 29th, 30th, and 35th, Eliz. and a commissioner to treat with the agents of the king of Spain at Bourbourg in 1588. Sir James d. 1591. Edward, his son, was M.P. for Leominster 1571 and 1586, d. 1601, leaving a son, sir Herbert, M.P. co. Hereford, temp. Eliz. and Jas I. who had four sons, of whom sir William, sir James, and Robert were colonnels in the service of Charles I. and were conspicuous for their eminent loyalty. The two first mentioned d. s. p.; Herbert, 3d son, and eventually h. of sir Herbert, b. 1606, having entered into holy orders, became celebrated as a divine and a scholar: he was appointed bishop of Hereford 1662, and d. 1692. His only child,

I. Sir HERBERT, 1st bart. was so created 18th Nov. 1671, m. Elizabeth, da. of Thomas Archer, of Umbersdale, co. Warwick, esq. aunt of the 1st lord Archer, by whom (who d. 1709) he had issue,

1. Sir ARCHER, 2d bart.

2. FRANCIS, of London, merchant, b. 1667, m. Grace, da. and eventually sole h. of Thomas Bramston, of Water House, co. Essex, esq. by whom he had an only son,

Herbert, b. 10 June 1722, m. 1st, 10 May 1749, Elizabeth, da. of Richard Young, of Midhurst, co. Sussex, esq. who d. 1763, leaving, besides other issue, 1. sir HERBERT, 5th bart.; 2. sir RICHARD, 6th bart.; 3. Mary, m. Thomas Ryder, of Hendon, co. Middlesex, esq. and d. 27 March 1821; 4. Grace, b. 9 Dec. 1753, d. 1810, unm. He m. 2dly, Mary da. of Thomas Chawnet, of Sudbury Wood, co. Derby, esq. by whom he had, 5. MOTTO—Nec parvis sisto.

SEATS—Knightstown, Casbel, and Ladyrath, in the county of Meath, Ireland.

* This is the account given by Collins and all succeeding authors on the subject. In a MS. collection of baronets' pedigrees made by Peter Le Neve, Norroy king of arms about 1700, and very frequently quoted by Collins, it is stated that sir John, here called 2d bart. was the person originally created, with remainder to his nephews; that his son, John, called 3d bart. died during his father's lifetime; and that on the death of sir John, 1st bart. he was succeeded by a John, eldest son of his brother William, and that John, in 1692, by his brother William, the same who is in the text called 4th bart. The patent which was granted at Oxford is not enrolled, or the Editor would have been enabled to clear up the point.

HUGO DE BATHE is said to have accompanied earl Strongbow in his expedition to Ireland in 1172, and had grants of manors and lands in the counties of Dublin, Meath, Louth, and Drogheda.

WOOTTON, in his Baronetage, 1727, says, there is a tradition that this ancient family is descended from Wolstan, earl of Ellenden, (now called Wilton,) who was the sister of Egbert, the first English monarch. Another asserts, upon a relation of sir Walter Littleton, chancellor of Lichfield, that one of the Dixies was the da. and h. of — Wolstan, of Wolstan, co. Warwick, about 700 years since; and in confirmation of the same, a piece of alabaster was, many years ago, found under a pillar in Wolvey church, near Wolstan, with this inscription in old characters, viz. Wolstan Dixie, in the year of our Lord 1100. But Dugdale, in his "Warwickshire," intimates, that Wolstan was so called (quasi Wulfcriston) from some Saxon possessor named Wulfrie. The first mentioned in the Herald's visitations is Wolstan Dixie, who was seated at Catworth, co. Huntingdon, about the reign of Edward III.

I. Sir WOLSTAN, at the breaking out of the rebellion, 1641, appeared early in the defence of the king, and was a great sufferer for the royal cause. When the gentry of the co. of Leicester contributed £25,642 for his majesty, sir Wolstan gave himself towards that sum, £1835; for which signal service he had a warrant for a baronet's patent; but through the confusion of the times, it was not taken out till after the Restoration. He was 1st, Barbara, da. and h. of sir Henry Beaumont, bart. (widow of John, eldest son of sir Richard Harpur, knt.) by whom he had,

MOTTO—Si sit prudentia.

SEAT—At Windlestone, co. Durham.

THIS family was resident co. Durham for several generations prior to the close of the 14th century; and there is no reason to doubt that the name is local, and derived either from Castle Eden, or Little Eden, in the same county. We are unable to trace the family to an earlier period than 1413, when by an inquisition of Thomas Langley, bishop of Durham, it appears that Robert de Eden died possessed of three messuages and ten ox-gangs of land, with their appurtenances, in Preston-on-Tees, held of the bishop in capite, by knight's service. He was succeeded by his son William, who d. seized of the same estate, 1475; his son and heir was Thomas Eden, father of John, of Belsis, co. Durham, esq. m. Elizabeth, da. and co-h. of Perceval Lambton, of Durham, esq. by whom he had Robert Eden, of West Auckland, and of Windleston, esq. where the family appear to have been resident from the commencement of the reign of queen Elizabeth. EDMONSTONE, of DUNTREATH, co. Stirling. 20 May 1774.

SIR ARCHIBALD EDMONSTONE, Baronet, born 12 March 1795, succeeded his father, sir Charles, 1 April 1821; married 10 Oct. 1832, Emma, da. of Bandle Wilbraham, of Rode Hall, co. Chester, esq. niece of lord Skelmersdale, and has issue,—1. a DA. b. 17 July 1833;—2. a DA. b. 16 Sept. 1834.

ARMS—Or, three crescents, within a double tressure, firy, counterfiry, gules.

CREST—Out of a ducal coronet, a swan's head and neck, proper.

SUPPORTERS—Two lions rampant, gules.

MOTTO—Virtus auget honorem.

SEAT—At Duntreath, co. Stirling.

THE family of Edmonstone originated about the latter end of the 11th century. Margaret, da. of Edgar Atheling, previous to her marriage with king Malcolm Canmore, A. D. 1070, was attended to Scotland by (among several other foreigners, who afterwards rose to distinction) Edmundus, supposed to be a younger son of the counts Egmont of Flanders. This person had a grant of land in the county of Edinburgh, to which he gave his name; and as surnames began at this period to be generally adopted, those lands called Edmondston became the distinctive appellation of the family.

Sir JOHN EDMONSTONE, of Edmonstone, appears to have been a person of great possessions and considerable importance in the reigns of king David II. and his successors; and his son of the same name was employed during the reigns of Robert III. and James I. as a joint commissioner on three different occasions for arranging a truce with England, 1407, &c. Sir John m. the princess Isabel Stewart, da. of king Robert II. and widow of James, earl of Douglas and Marr, who was killed at the battle of Otterburn. By this lady he had two sons, 1. sir DAVID, who succeeded him; 2. Sir William Edmonstone, of Culloden, and first of the family of Duntreath. Sir David left two sons, of whom sir James, the eldest, d. without issue male, and John, the younger, carried on the branch of the Edmonstones of Ednam, who became the chief of the family, and are but lately extinct.

Sir WILLIAM EDMONSTONE, of Culloden, m. his first cousin, the princess Mary Stuart, da. of king Robert III. This lady had been three times previously married: 1st, to George, earl of Angus, ancestor of the Douglas family; 2dly, to sir James Kennedy, of Dunure, from whom the marquis of Ailsa descends; 3dly, to sir William Graham, of Kincardine, the immediate ancestor of the dukes of Montrose; and 4thly, "being still a young woman," to sir William Edmonstone, of Culloden, from which marriage the present family are immediately descended. King James II. conferred a grant of the lands and barony of Duntreath to sir William Edmonstone and the countess of Angus, by a charter dated 1452. This, which had been previously part of the forfeited estate of the earls of Lennox, has ever since remained the chief seat of the family.

ARCHIBALD EDMONSTONE, of Duntreath, 8th in descent from the above-mentioned sir William, m. 1st, the hon. Anne Erskine, da. of David, 3d lord Cardross, ancestor of the present earl of Buchan, by whom he had one da.; and 2dly, Anne, da. of the hon. John Campbell, of Mammore, (second son to the unfortunate earl of Argyll, who was beheaded 1685,) and sister to John, 4th duke of Argyll, by whom he had issue,

The family distinguished by the surname of

* Ratified and confirmed to the first bart. by patent from the Lion-office, dated 3 Jan. 1807, by the lord lion king of arms of Scotland.

Fraser are of great antiquity in Scotland, although they are unquestionably of Celtic or Gaelic origin, and came from Provence and Languedoc at one era, and from Brittany and Normandy at another. French history mentions, that Julian de Berrie, on the 10th of April 916, presented Charles, king of France, at Au Bergne, near Bourbon, a basket of ripe strawberries, which was so much thought of, that he gave him the surname of Fraser, afterwards written Fraisau, and Fraizel, in France, by the great families of Guise and Froizeller, dukes of that kingdom, the marquis Montagnard, and many others, whose armorial bearings are distinguished by strawberries on their shield, in like manner as they are sculptured, and remain to this day, on the cross of Peebles.

Sir George M'Kenzie, lord-advocate of Scotland, and other antiquaries, say, that one of this family came into Scotland with the embassy from Charlemagne in 807, and was created the 1st thane of Man, the lineal ancestor of Oliver Fraser, or Frisel, 13th thane of Man, who built Oliver Castle, in Tweed's Muir, and erected it into a constabulary, and is to this day first called over in the roll of Peebles.

Sir Simon Fraser having thrice saved the life and remounted king Robert de Brus, in the battle of Methven, had the three crowns quartered into his armorial bearings.

The loyalty, fidelity, and martial achievements acquired by the Frasers at Roslin, Inverness, Perth, Edinburgh, Bannockburn, &c. are well recorded in history, and led to the alliance with king Robert's sister, who was twice married; by which marriages, sir John Campbell, ancestor of Argyll, and sir Alexander, son of sir Simon Fraser, ancestor of Lovat, were uterine brothers, and related to all the nobility of both kingdoms, as appears by the grants and charters preserved and described by Mr. Robertson, in the register-office, Edinburgh, page 19, Register, No. 145, Charters of king Robert de Brus; "Marie, sponse Alexandri Fraser, militis sorori nostri dilecte, et Johanne Campbell, filio suo nepoti nostro, pro herangio et servitio, omnes terras et tenementa, que fuerunt, Davidis, Comiti Atholæ, in comitatu Athole, que idem David Foris fecit."

In the reign of king Alexander III. sir Simon Fraser, son of sir Bernard Fraser, lineally descended from thane Oliver, was gifted with the lordship of Loveth (vulgo, Norwich) by charter, dated at Dumfermline 1253, and appointed, with his brother, sir Francis Fraser, and William Fraser, archbishop of St. Andrew's, and lord-chancellor of Scotland, along with his cousin sir Richard Fraser, auditors in the competition for the crown of Scotland between Bruce and Baliol, 1291.

From lord Hugh Fraser, created by king

James I. of Scotland, lord Fraser, of Loveth, 3 March 1426, descend lineally the lords Loveth, or Lovat; and from Alexander, 2d son to lord Hugh Fraser, of Lovat, descended Alexander Fraser, of Farraline, father of Hugh Fraser, of Leadclune, esq. called Hustan More, father of

It appears from a pedigree drawn by Robert Glover, Somerset herald, that this family flourished for several generations at Nortingley, or Nortonlee, co. Somerset. At length Henry, the 3d son of Robert Goodricke, of Nortingley, marrying the da. and heiress of Thomas Stickford, esq. co. Lincoln, the family removed into that county, where, after six generations,

WILLIAM GOODRICKE, esq. had three sons, John, Thomas, and Henry. Thomas was in great favour with king Henry VIII. and was employed by him in several negotiations with foreign princes. He was one of the 32 commissioners empowered to reform the canon laws, and was one of the compilers of the English liturgy. He was 20 years bishop of Ely; and by king Edward VI. was made lord chancellor of England, from which office he was removed by queen Mary, and d. unm. 19 May 1554.

THE family of Cumming is said to be descended from the ancient family of the Cumines in France. Robert Cumine, earl of Northumberland, was employed against the rebels in Northumberland, as they were then termed, anno 1068. William Cumine was lord high chancellor of Scotland in the reign of king David I. who succeeded to the throne in 1124. It is agreed that the Cumines had large possessions in lands, and much greater power, than any other name in Scotland, from the reign of Malcolm III. styled Canmore, to that of king Robert Bruce. The Cumines, lords Badenoch, were undoubtedly chiefs of the whole clan. From them were descended the Cumines, earls of Buchan, earls of Montrith, &c. The Cumines of Altyr, descended from a younger son of the lords of Badenoch, appear now to be the representatives of that great and once flourishing family.

ALEXANDER CUMMING, of Altyr, (15th in descent from sir John Cumming, lord of Badenoch, who d. 1249.) m. Anne, da. of John Wortley, esq. and had issue, Elizabeth, d. unm. and an only son,

THIS family is of great antiquity in the county of Flint, being descended from sir JOHN HANMER, of Hanmer, knt. who was constable of Carnarvon Castle under king Edward I. His great-grandson, sir JENKIN Hanmer, joined Owen Glendower (who had married his sister, Margaret) in his rebellion against king Henry IV. and was slain at the battle of Shrewsbury 1403. He was twice married: by his 1st wife, Margaret, da. of David ap Blethyn Vychan, he had a son, Griffith, who continued the elder line of the family; and by his 2d wife, Eva, da. and h. of David ap Grono ap Jerworth, he had, besides other issue, a son, Edward, who settled at the Fennes, in the parish of Hanmer, and was ancestor of the present bart.

Sir JOHN HANMER, of Hanmer, 6th in descent from Griffith, eldest son of sir Jenkin, was created a bart. 8 July 1620, and dying 1624, was succeeded by his son, Sir THOMAS, who left two sons: 1. sir JOHN, 3d bart. who d. without issue; 2. William, who was father of sir THOMAS, 4th and last bart. of this line of the family. This last sir Thomas was member for the county of Suffolk in five parliaments, and speaker of the house of commons in the parliament which met 1714. He was twice m. but d. without issue 1746, when the family of Hanmer, of Hanmer, became extinct; but sir Thomas executed a settlement, 1733, by which the estate was secured to his kinsman, Thomas Hanmer, then head of the family of Hanmer of the Fennes, and his heirs, and thus nearly the whole estate of sir Jenkin Hanmer, which had been divided for more than three centuries, was reunited.

THOMAS HANMER, of the Fennes, esq. 10th in descent from sir Jenkin, d. 1701, having m. Jane, da. of sir Job Charlton, of Ludford, co. Hereford, bart. and leaving issue, two surviving sons, 1. William; 2. Job, who m. * The family of Abney is of great antiquity in co. Derby; they were seated at Abney in the Peak, (from whence they take their name,) about the time of the Conquest. The first of the family that is mentioned as living at Willesley, is John Abney, or de Abney, in 1318, and the family continued there in a direct line till the death of lady Hastings' father. Among the most celebrated individuals of it may be enumerated, at the commencement of the 18th century, sir Edward, of Willesley, D.C.L. and his younger brother, sir Thomas, who was lord mayor of London 1700, many years M.P. for that city, of which he died father, at the age of 83. Sir Edward Abney left a son, sir Thomas, judge of the common pleas, who was grandfather of lady Hastings.

SEAT—At Stubton Hall, co. Lincoln.

The names of Herioun and Hern are in the Battle Abbey Roll, "of such noblemen and gentlemen of marque, as came into England with the duke of Normandy.

The duke not having fully reduced Northumberland, Henry I. his son, to effect the reduction, and create a barrier against Scotland, divided Northumberland into feudal baronies, one of which, the BARONY OF HERON, whereof HADDSTON, was the head, he granted, in 1100, to the ancestor of sir Richard. In 1296 it descended to Emeline, the heiress-general of William, lord Heron, her grandfather. She m. John, lord Darcy; and in 1536, the baronies of Darcy and Heron were forfeited by the attainer of their descendant, Thomas, lord Darcy.

Upon the descent of HADDSTON to Emeline Heron, FORD CASTLE became the chief seat of this family, which divided into many branches; particularly those of Ford Castle, BOKENFIELD, Chipchase, Appllynden, Cressy, and NEWARK, several of whom had summons to parliament in temp. Edw. III. Rich. II. and Hen. IV. Camden, in his "Britannia," calls this belliosca et clara familia Heronorum. It is one of the 270 most ancient and noble families of England (the barons by tenure,) of which there remained only twenty-four MALE BRANCHES in 1675, when Dugdale published his History of the Feudal Barons. Some of the branches at length failed for want of male heirs, and others united again the ancestors of the baronet. The pedigree is curiously preserved through all the branches, and it appears that in 1682, on the death of John, the last Heron of BOKENFIELD, without issue male,

Robert Heron, of NEWARK, his first cousin, became chief of the family. He m. Mary Hobman, of NEWARK, co. Notts, and d. 16 May 1709; JOHN Heron, his son, m. Jane, da. of Richard Crayle, of NEWARK, and d. 18 Dec. 1727, leaving an only surviving son, ROBERT Heron, sometime town-clerk, and afterwards recorder of NEWARK, m. Elizabeth, da. of Thomas Brecknock, of Thorney Abbey, and d. 10 Aug. 1753, having had issue, four sons, viz.

1. John, recorder of NEWARK, d. at Paris 8 Sept. 1753, having m. Margaret, da. of John Green, esq. of Sutton-on-Sound, and leaving issue, two das. both m.

2. Thomas, of Chilham Castle, co. Kent, recorder of NEWARK, m. 1st, Anne, da. of sir

Edward Wilmot, bart. physician to the king, by whom he had issue,

1. Sir ROBERT, 2d bart.

2. Anne; 3. Elizabeth.

He m. 2dly, Miss Sawbridge, of the co. Kent.

3. Robert, in holy orders, m. Anne Pechell, and d. 19 Jan. 1813, without issue.

And 4.

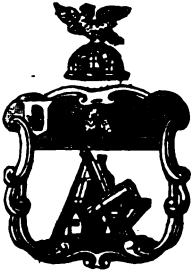

I. The right hon. sir RICHARD HERON, created a baronet, 25 Aug. 1778, with remainder to the issue male of his brother, Thomas

Heron, of Chilham Castle, co. Kent, esq. youngest son of Robert Heron, of Newcar. He was sworn a privy-counsellor of Ireland in 1777, and held the office of chief secretary nearly four years under the viceroyalty of John, 2d earl of Buckinghamshire. Sir Richard m. Jane, da. and co-h. of Abraham Hall, M.D. and relict of Stephen Thomson, esq. and by her (who d. 6 Oct. 1814) had no issue; and d. Jan. 1805, was succeeded by his nephew,

II. Sir ROBERT, present bart.

SIR RICHARD, eldest son of Curtis, was created a bart. 18 July 1792, b. 10 Aug. 1730, entered early into the R. N. and in 1738 accompanied his maternal uncle, commodore Curtis Barnett, commander-in-chief in the Mediterranean; afterwards, 1744, in the East Indies. In 1759 he was made post-captain. On the commencement of hostilities with Spain, 1762, lord Anson particularly recommended capt. King to his majesty, as an officer on whom he could depend, to convey the earliest intelligence of that event to the East Indies. Gen. (afterwards sir Edward, K. B.) Draper, who was appointed to command the land forces against Manilla, embarked with him on board the Argo, which sailed from Plymouth 22 Feb. Capt. King had the good fortune to make a very expeditious passage to India; which, if he had not effected, the enterprise against Manilla must have failed, as the squadron arrived there only a few days previously to the changing of the monsoon. 1763 he was appointed to the Grafton, of 68 guns, in which he arrived in England in July 1764, with the galleon which he had captured in company of the Lennox. 1771 he was appointed to the Arden, and afterwards to the Asia, which was stationed guardship at Portsmouth. In 1779 he was appointed to the Exeter, of 64 guns, and by the desire of lord Mulgrave and sir William James, the chairman of the East India company, he was nominated to proceed, as 2d officer in command, under rear-admiral sir Edward Hughes, to the East Indies. After his arrival there, in 1780, he was promoted to the rank of commodore. On this station he continued during the whole of the war, and was engaged in all the actions with the French squadron commanded by M. de Suffrein. In 1784 he received the honour of knighthood. In 1787 he was promoted to the rank of rear-admiral of the white, and 1790 he was appointed commander-in-chief in the Downs. 1791, he was made rear-admiral of the red, and appointed to command the 3d division of the fleet at Spithead. 1792 he was created a bart. and appointed governor and commander-in-chief at Newfoundland. 1793 he was promoted to the rank of vice-admiral of the blue; he was elected to represent Rochester in 1794, 1796, and 1802. 1794, being vice-admiral of the red, he was appointed commander-in-chief at the port of Plymouth; and in June 1795, he was promoted to the rank of admiral of the blue. 1799 he became admiral of the white. Sir Richard m. Susannah-Margaret, da. of William Coker, of Maypowder, co. Dorset, esq. and had issue,

THIS ancient family derives its descent from BLETHYN AP KYNVIN, one of the princes of Wales. The surname of Kynaston was first assumed temp. Edw. I. by Griffith Kynaston, and 7th in descent from him was

Sir ROGER KYNASTON, knt. m. lady Elizabeth Grey, da. of Henry, earl of Tankerville, in Normandy, and baron Powys in England; and sister of Richard lord Powys, who d. 1466, whose great-grandson, Edward lord Powys d. without issue 1551. Sir Roger d. 1517, leaving issue by his said wife, a son and heir,

HUMPHREY, m. Isabella Howell, and d. 1534, leaving a son and heir,

EDWARD, who, by an inquisition taken at Llanfyllin, co. Montgomery, 1556, was found to be "cousin and heir of Edward (the last) lord Powys;" m. Margaret Lloyd, and d. leaving issue, a son and heir,

ROGER, of Hordley, co. Salop, esq. high sheriff of that county in the reign of queen Elizabeth, m. Margaret, da. of John Vaughan, of Llwdiarth, co. Montgomery, esq. and d. 1606, leaving, besides other children, a son and heir,

EDWARD, m. Mary, da. of Thomas Owen, of Condober, esq. one of the justices of the court of common pleas, and d. 1631, leaving issue,

ROGER, of Hordley, co. Salop, esq. high sheriff of Shropshire 1640, m. Rebecca, da. of sir John Weld, knt. and d. Sept. 1684, leaving issue,

1. EDWARD.

2. ELIZABETH, m. Robert Corbett, esq.

3. REBECCA, m. Richard Mytton, esq.

EDWARD, only son of Roger, was also of Hordley; he was knight of the shire, co. Salop, and sheriff of that county 1682; m. Amey, da. and h. of Thomas Barker, of Haghmond, esq. and had issue,

1. JOHN.

2. ROGER; 3. EDWARD; 4. FRANCIS; 5. THOMAS, all d. without issue.

6. MARGARET, m. 1st, Philip Eyton, of Eyton, esq. and 2dly, — Burnett, esq.

JOHN, the eldest son, was also of Hordley, and represented the county of Salop in several parliaments. In 1731 he claimed the ancient barony of Powys as lineal heir of Edward Kynaston, of Hordley, next cousin in blood and heir of sir Edward Grey, the last lord Powys, as before recited; but dying 1733, the house of lords came to no decision; m. 1st, Beatrice, da. of sir Vincent Corbet, of Morton Corbet, bart. and heiress to her brother, sir Vincent Corbet, bart. and by her had issue,

1. CORBET Kynaston, esq. who likewise represented the county of Salop in parliament, d. unn. 1741.

EDWARD KYNASTON, esq. the eldest surviving son, was of Hordley and Hardwicke, m. Victoria, only da. and h. of sir Charles Lloyd, of Garth, co. Montgomery, bart. but d. without issue, May 1772, whereupon his only brother,

ROGER, became the representative of this ancient family; b. 6 March 1710-11, m. 13 April, 1752, Mary, only child of Henry Powell, of Worthen, co. Salop, esq. (by his 3d wife, Margaret, da. of Nathaniel Baskerville,) and d. 1788, leaving issue by her, (who d. 15 March 1766,)

1. Sir JOHN, 1st bart.

3. ROGER, b. 7 Sept. 1755, d. unn. 17 May 1788.

4. Sir EDWARD, 2d bart.

I. Sir JOHN, of Harkwicke, aforesaid, eldest son, b. 5 Feb. 1753. In 1797, in compliance with the will of his kinsman, John Powell, esq. son of the above-mentioned Henry Powell, esq. by his second wife, he obtained his majesty's royal license to take the surname and arms of Powell. He was knight of the shire for Salop in several parliaments; and in the year 1800 preferred his claim to the ancient barony of Powys as lineal heir of the aforesaid Edward Kynaston, of Hordley, esq. who d. 1592, and who was recognised as cousin and heir of Edward last baron Powys; but it appearing that there existed co-heirs of John earl of Worcester, who d. 1470, and who was the son and h. of John lord Tiptoft, by Joyce his wife, da. and co-h. of Edward Cherleton de Powys, lord Powys, who d. 1421, it was resolved by the house of lords that notice be given to such co-h. to attend and be heard in respect of the said claim. He was created a bart. as above, with remainder, on failure of issue male of his body, to his brother, the rev. Edward Kynaston, and the heirs male of his body.

Sir John d. 25 Oct. 1822, without issue, and the dignity devolved, pursuant to the said limitation, on his brother,

II. The rev. sir EDWARD, 2d bart. who took the name of Powell only by royal license.) b. 7 Jan. 1758; m. 9 Dec. 1783, Letitia, da. of Robert Owen, esq. and has issue, MOTTO—E'en do, bait spair nocht.

SEAT—Clangregor Castle, co. Perth.

THOUGH this family have, in the last two or three generations, assumed the name of Murray, they are in fact of the race of MAC GREGOR. The royal descent of this most ancient clan might be traced from the chronicles of the Scottish kings to the remotest antiquity; but we shall carry it no further back than prince Gregor, 3d son of king Alphin, son of the celebrated Achaius, king of Scotland, who began to reign 787. The 5th in descent from him was Gregor Garubh, or the Stout, who m. a. da. of the ancient house of Lochow, predecessor of the family of Argyll. He fought under Duncan I. in his battles against the Normans and Danes, highly resented the murder of that monarch by Macbeth, and was a powerful promoter of the restoration of his son, Malcolm, prince of Cumberland. In the early part of the 17th century there happened great animosities between the Macgregors and the Colquhouns, Buchanans and Græmes, which produced several bloody conflicts; and their adversaries having favour at court, the Macgregors were persecuted with great fury. To such a height of ferocity were matters carried, that a price being set upon the heads of the clan by the privy council, two of their enemies who had shared considerably of their estates, got bloodhounds, with which they hunted them, devouring and mangling them wherever they were found. So keen and powerful were the conductors of their destruction, that a very severe act was made against them, whereby their name was proscribed, and all persons were at liberty to mutilate or slay them without being liable to law; nay, encouraged to it by a promise of their moveable goods and gear. In this situation the Macgregors continued till the time of the solemn league and covenant, which, as their principal enemies were interested in, afforded them a respite. They were much courted to join the confederacy upon promises of future friendship: but rebellion against majesty had ever been detestable to them, and they declared, "That as they bore the crown on the point of their swords, they would not fail to use the latter in support of the former." Patrick Macgregor afterwards joined Montrose in support of the royal cause with above a thousand of his clan. Mr. Nisbet, in mentioning the loyalists, says, "The Macgregors also, a clan inferior to none in bravery and activity, followed their chief."

Patrick was in particular esteem with Montrose, two of whose letters are carefully preserved, addressed to "His special and trusty Friend, the honourable Patrick, Laird of Macgregor:" that great man, in the strongest terms, expressed his hearty approbation of his unshaken loyalty, and assured him that "His Majesty's affairs being once upon a permanent footing, the grievances of his family and clan should be effectually redressed." But their chief hopes died with this great hero; though they were in consequence of their loyalty, restored to their name, by act of parliament in the reign of Charles II. Patrick m. Marian, da. of Macdonald, of Auchtrichatan, chief of the most powerful tribe of Macdonalds in Glenco, by whom he had three sons, 1. John; 2. James, a major in the army, who went to America, where he m. and acquired great estates; he was at last killed by a party of rebel Indians, but some of his posterity still flourish near New York; 3. Duncan, d. unm. John the eldest son was a steady loyalist; he m. Ann, da. of Macgregor of Ross, by whom he had a son, John, and several other children. John Macgregor, alias Murray, m. Catherine, eldest da. of Hugh Campbell, of Lix, esq. descended from some of the first families of Scotland, by whom he had five sons, 1. Robert; 2. Peter, m. and left a da. Catharine, m. John Gregorson; 3. Duncan, representative of the family, was sorely wounded at the battle of Prestonpans 1745; he had a son John, and a da. Drummond-Mary; 4. EVAN (of whom hereafter); 5. John, who signalized himself at the siege of Carthage, 1740, and in the succeeding war was killed at Ticonderago. Robert, of Glencarnock, the eldest son, assumed the name of Murray, was attached to the interest of the Stuart family, and had the command of a regiment of his own clan 1745. The duke of Cumberland sent to assure them, that if they would lay down their arms and return home, they should be restored to their name, and otherwise favoured by government; or, if they would join him, that their commanders should have the same rank, and their promotion be esteemed the peculiar care of his royal highness. This message produced a spirited but polite refusal; and after the battle of Culloden, the Macgregors marched in a body to their own country with flying colours and then dispersed in small parties. Soon afterwards the king's troops burnt all the houses on Glencarnock's estate, carried off the cattle, &c.

Glencarnock having at length surrendered himself to the duke of Argyll, was, with the earl of Kelly and others, confined for several years in the castle of Edinburgh. He m. 1st, Christian, da. of John Campbell, esq. by whom he had one da. Christian m. capt. THE family of Macnaghten is acknowledged to be of the greatest antiquity in the western Highlands, and to have had great possessions in Scotland.

On the 12 Feb. 1267, Alexander III. issued a patent from his court at Soone, granting to Gillechrist Macnaghtan and his heirs, the custody of the castle and island of Frechlan, on condition that he should rebuild and keep the former in repair and preserve it in a state fit for the reception and entertainment of the king, whenever it should please him to come there; he was grandfather of Donald Macnaghtan of that ilk, who joining with his kinsmen, the Macdougals of Lorn, in an insurrection against king Robert Bruce, was so struck by the valour of that prince in the battle of Dalree, that he espoused his interests and continued firm in his allegiance for the remainder of his life; his son, Duncan, proved himself as faithful to the cause of king David, and was one of the band that accompanied the lord James Douglas in his attempt to deposit the heart of king Robert at Jerusalem.

SIR ALEXANDER MACNAUGHTAN, a descendant of the above named Duncan, fell with the king and the flower of the Scottish nobility at Flodden, in 1513, leaving a son and heir, John Macnaughtane of that ilk, who m. Anne, da. of Murdoch Maclean, laird of Lochboy, in Mull, by whom he had three sons; the eldest, Alexander, died a. p.; the second, Malcolm, was ancestor of the Macnaughtanes of Scotland, and the third.

JOHN, called Shane Dhu, settled in Ireland, and was secretary to his kinsman, the first earl of Antrim; his son and heir, Daniel, was murdered, together with his followers, by the soldiers of sir John Clotworthy, about 1641, leaving by Catherine, his wife, niece of the celebrated primrose, George Dowdall, a son and successor,

JOHN MACNAGHTEN, of Benvardeen, in the barony of Dunluce, co. Antrim, esq. m. Helen, da. of Francis Stafford, esq. and sister to the right hon. Edmond-Francis Stafford, M.P. by whom he had issue,

THE family of Moleworth anciently resided in the counties of Northampton and Bedford, where they flourished in the reigns of Edward I. and II. Sir Walter de Moleworth attended king Edward I. in his expedition to the Holy Land, and was sheriff cos. Bedford and Bucks for the space of ten years. In 1306, when the king, on a grand Whitsuntide festival, to augment the glory of his intended expedition into Scotland, knighted Edward, earl of Carnarvon, his eldest son, the young prince, immediately after that ceremony, at the altar, in Westminster Abbey, conferred the same honour on near 300 gentlemen, the sons of earls, barons, and knights, of which number was sir Walter de Moleworth.

His descendants were of great note and consideration, and at length the dignity of bart. was conferred on two branches of the family, nearly at the same time, both of them being zealous in favour of the Revolution.

JOHN MOLESWORTH, of Helpston, co. Northampton, temp. queen Elizabeth, left, besides other issue, two sons, Anthony, whose great-grandson, Robert, was first created a bart. by king George I. and subsequently made a peer of Ireland, (1716,) by the title of viscount Molesworth, which dignity his descendant now enjoys (see Debrett's Peerage) and

Samuel, only son of Jean-Horace Peche, b. at Montauban, in 1644, and m. marquesse Thierry de Sabonniers, of the same place, where he had resided, with many other descendants of those noble Protestants who had placed Henry IV. on the throne. But on the revocation of the edict of Nantes, by Louis XIV. this couple were objects of severe persecution, and after having suffered extreme cruelties, monsieur Peche was at length embarked, with felons, for the West Indies, from whence he effected his escape, first to Jamaica, and then to Ireland, where he obtained a pension from king William and a commission in a regiment commanded by marshal Schomberg. His wife, with her only son, Jacob, fled to Geneva, there she remained until hearing of her husband's arrival in Ireland, she found the means of joining him, where they lived for many years, having had the good fortune to receive several considerable remittances from France. Their two daughters had been taken from them before they left their native country, placed in a convent, brought up to the Catholic religion, and some years afterwards obtained a grant of all their father's lands, by virtue of a letter from Louis XIV. of which their heirs are now in possession. One of them m. M. de Cahuzac, the other M. de St. Sardos.

He was made captain, 1 Aug. 1738, and in 1748 commanded on the Leeward Island station, and blocked up the French fleet in Martinico; in 1754 he went to the East Indies as commander under admiral Watson; was soon after promoted to be rear-admiral of the blue, and on the death of admiral Watson in 1757, succeeded him in the chief command of the English fleet in those parts. With an inferior force he gained three signal victories over the French fleet, commanded by the count D'Ache, and before the close of 1758, had established the sovereignty of the English in those seas. For these services he received the thanks of the East India Company, his statue was erected in the India House, and his sovereign bestowed on him the order of the Bath, with which he was invested 6 May 1761. In the succeeding year he was appointed to command the naval part of the expedition against the Havannah, which, together with nine sail of the line, surrendered to the English forces on the 12th of August. Sir George for some time held the office of master of the Trinity House, and was twice returned M.P. for Plymouth. RICHARD BASSETT, justiciar of England, temp. Hen. I. m. Matilda, da. and h. of Geffry de Riddell, by whom he had several sons. Geffry, the eldest, assumed his mother's name of Riddell, m. to his 2d wife Sibilla, sister of William Mauduit, lord of Hanslop, and had issue by her, Hugh. Douglas, in his Baronage of Scotland, art. "Riddell of that ilk," derives the Riddells of Scotland from a brother of Maud, wife of Richard Basset, who, according to his statement, surrendered his estates in England to his sister, and established himself in Scotland. Betham, in his Baronetage (1806), on the other hand, derives this family from the above-named Hugh, son of Geffry de Riddell, by Sibilla Mauduit. There does not appear, however, any sufficient proof to establish either of these accounts. The name of Riddell is undoubtedly of very great antiquity in Scotland, but Nisbett, who gives proofs of its antiquity, does not say a word of its English origin, and until the present family assumed the arms of Geffry de Riddell as their paternal coat, the Riddells of Scotland bore very different armoial ensigns, (viz. a chevron between three stalks of rye,) which are used by the Riddells of Riddell to this day.

The immediate ancestor of the present bart. was

GEORGE RIDDELL, of Kinglass, who m. Jane, da. of John Taylor or Tailzeour, and left an only surviving son,

THIS family is a younger branch of the house of Scott, of Balweiry. Douglas, in his Peerage, says, there was at a very early period of Scottish history two families of Scott, that of Buccleuch, (from the heiress of which the duke of Buccleuch descends,) seated in the southern and western parts of the kingdom, and that of Balweiry, co. Fife. That their families were of distinct origin, Douglas assumes, from the great difference of their armorial ensigns. Other Scottish genealogists assert that they descended from the same common ancestor; that the house of Balweiry is the eldest, and that Scott, of Buccleuch, a younger son, assumed at a very early period the arms of an heiress, whose lands he had inherited.

The earliest ancestor to which the house of Scott, of Balweiry, is traced, is a MICHAEL SCOTT, who lived in the middle and latter end of the 12th century. His present representative is Scott of Ancrum, bart. of Nova Scotia.

JAMES SCOTT, a younger son of Scott, of Balweiry, settled, about the end of the 16th century, at Logie, near Montrose, co. Angus, and left an only son, JAMES, b. 1593, had six sons, on each of whom he settled a separate estate, viz. 1. James, who succeeded his father at Logie; 2. Robert, of Benholme; 3. Hercules, of Brotherton; 4. PATRICK, of Craig; 5. JOHN, of Comiston; 6. David, of Hedderwick.

PATRICK SCOTT, of Craig, 4th son of James, was b. 1623, and d. 1690, leaving, besides other issue, a son and heir, PATRICK, of Rossie, m. Margaret, da. of sir Archibald Hope, of Rankilour, bart. and d. 1731, leaving issue, 1. Archibald, twice m. and d. 1770, leaving issue; and 2.

ROBERT, of Duninald, co. Forfar, b. 1705, m. Anne, da. of George Middleton, of Scotos, co. Aberdeen, esq. and d. 1780, leaving, besides other issue, MOTTO—Sidus adsit amicum.

SEAT—Hartington Hall, co. Derby.

The family of Bateman, from which the late bart. descended, is of considerable antiquity in the county of Derby, and derived from ROBERT BATEMAN, of Hartington, in that county, who was living in the 15th century; his grandson, RICHARD, was living 1561, and had two sons, HUGH, of Hartington, who continued the line, and Robert, who was chamberlain, and sometime representative in parliament for the city of London, and was an eminent merchant there. He founded and endowed the divinity lectureship of Ashbourne, co. Derby, and, dying 1645, bequeathed lands in the counties of Essex, Dorset, and Denbigh, amongst his four sons; viz. 1. Robert, styled of Rotterdam, in Holland; 2. sir Anthony Bateman, M.P. for the city of London, 1664; 3. sir William Bateman, knt.; and 4. sir Thomas Bateman, created a bart. 1664, and styled of How-Hall, co. Norfolk, from the lands which he had purchased in that county of sir Thomas Foote. The last three sons were aldermen of the city of London, and suffered considerable losses from the great fire in 1666, when the Duke of York, (amongst other efforts for the assistance of the public upon that melancholy occasion,) exerted himself much to save sir Thomas Bateman's house, in Coleman-street, from the flames. Sir Thomas d. leaving no issue. Robert Bateman, grandson of the above-named Hugh, m. Anne, 3d da. of sir William Thorold, then of Marston, co. THE descent of the ancient, honourable, and powerful family of the Scotts, of Harden, may be found in Douglas's Baronage of Scotland, p. 213, and therefore is not here recited. Sir William Scott, of Harden, and representative of that family, a man of great fortune and political influence, d. 1655. By his wife, Agnes Murray, da. of the 1st lord Elibank, he had five sons, to each of whom he left a considerable landed estate, besides that which descended to the eldest; these were, 1. sir William, heir of the family, whose line is now extinct; 2. sir Gideon, of Highcheater, whose great-grandson succeeded to the family estate of Harden, and whose descendant, Hugh Scott, esq. now represents that ancient family; 3. Walter Scott, of Raeburn; 4. James, of Thirstone; 5. John, of Woll.

Sir WALTER SCOTT is descended from the third of these sons, viz. Walter Scott, of Raeburn, who m. Isabel Makdougall, da. of William Makdougall, of Makerstoun, by Margaret Scott, da. of Walter Scott, of Harden, called Auld Watt. This Walter, of Raeburn, was a great orientalist, but unhappily prosecuted his studies in the Hebrew language until he studied himself into quakerism, with which sect his lady also complied. The privy council of Scotland, upon the petition of sir William Scott, of Harden, Raeburn's brother, and Makdougall, of Makerstoun, his brother-in-law, adopted the rough methods used in that time to cure heresy; Raeburn and his wife were imprisoned in the gaols of Edinburgh and Jedburgh, their children were forcibly taken from them, and appointed to be educated at Glasgow, at a distance from their parents, and by means of a considerable annuity appointed to be paid out of Raeburn's estate. (See Sharpe's Life of Kirkton, prefixed to his history of the Kirk of Scotland.) Nevertheless Walter, of Raeburn, died possessed of the lands of Eilrig. Raeburn, Muidlew, Yethyre, and others in Dumfriesshire, and a valuable property around Lessuden, co. Roxburgh, where he built a commodious mansion-house; he d. soon after the revolution, leaving two sons and a da.; from his eldest son, William, is lineally descended the present Walter Scott, of Raeburn.

WALTER, second son of the 1st laird of Raeburn, was a man of considerable classical learning, and an intimate friend of the celebrated Dr. Pitcairn. He made a vow to wear his beard unshaved until the Stuarts were restored to the throne, whence he obtained the surname of Bearded Watt. His fortune (originally small, as the 2d son of a cadet) was much impaired by the part he took in politics; by his wife, Jean Campbell, da. of — Campbell, esq. of Silvercraigs, he had three sons, 1. WALTER, m. and had issue a son, Walter, who d. in America, sine prole; 2. Robert; 3. William, who had several sons, of whom the eldest, James Scott, of Prince of Wales Island, was well known as one of the most intelligent and active merchants in India.

ROBERT, 2d son of Bearded Watt, was bred to the sea, but being shipwrecked in his first voyage, betook himself to agriculture, and obtained valuable leases from his kinsmen, the lairds of Harden and of Raeburn, the last of whom became his son-in-law. He was m. to Barbara Haliburton, da. of Thomas Haliburton, of New Mainz, now called Dryburgh Abbey, the representative of the ancient and honourable family of Merton, which representation, by the death of all the children of Thomas Haliburton without issue, devolved upon Walter Scott, eldest son of the said Barbara Scott and Thomas Haliburton. (See a little unpublished genealogical tract, entitled, Memorials of the Haliburtons.)

ROBERT SCOTT resided upon Sandyknow, a farm belonging to Harden, and being a very shrewd and intelligent man, is believed to have been the first person in Roxburghshire who ever acquired a considerable fortune by his skill in agriculture; he left five sons and four das. of whom it is only necessary to mention the sons, namely,

1. WALTER, of whom presently.
2. THOMAS, who followed his father's profession, and d. in 1822, at the advanced age of 91 and upwards; he was twice m.; 1st, to Barbara, da. of Walter Scott, of Raeburn, his cousin; 2dly, to Miss Rutherford, of Knowsouth.
3. ROBERT SCOTT, of Rosebank, a capt. in the sea service of the East India Company, unm.

4. JOHN, also bred to the sea, but d. in consequence of an injury received in the course of his duty, unm.

WALTER SCOTT, eldest son of Robert Scott, of Sandyknow, was b. 11 May 1729. He was bred a writer to the signet, or conveyancer, and was eminent for his general worth and respectability, as well as for his skill in his profession. He m. Anne Rutherford, da. of John Rutherford, M.D. son of the rev. John Rutherford, (whose father was John Rutherford,) of Grundianook, a cadet of the Rutherfords of Hunthill. Dr. Rutherford was professor of medicine in the university of Edinburgh, and one of the four pupils of the celebrated Boerhaave, by whom the great medical school in that city was founded. Anne was his da. by his first wife, Anne Swinton, da. of sir John Swinton, of that ilk. Walter Scott had a very numerous family, extending to twelve children, but we only notice such as survived childhood, viz.

2. JOHN, late major 78th regiment, d. unm.
3. Sir WALTER, created a bart.
4. ANNE, d. unm.
5. THOMAS, late paymaster 71st regiment, m. Elizabeth, da. of — Macculloch, esq. of Ardwall, d. 1822, leaving issue,
 1. Walter, in the military service of the hon. East India Company.
 2. Janet, m. major Huxley, 71st regt.
 3. Anne; 4. Eliza, both unm.
6. DANIEL, d. unm.

I. Sir WALTER SCOTT, bart. created as above; one of the principal clerks of the session in Scotland, and sheriff-depute of the shire of Selkirk, was born in the college Wynd of Edinburgh, 15 Aug. 1771, and being bred to the Scottish bar, passed advocate in 1792. He m. Margaret-Charlotte Carpenter, sister of the late Charles Carpenter, esq. commercial resident at Salem, 24 Dec. 1797, who d. 14 May 1826. In the year 1800, he was appointed sheriff-depute of Selkirkshire, and in 1806, was made one of the principal clerks of session. Having been distinguished in consequence of his literary productions, his late Majesty George IV, then Prince Regent, was pleased to confer on the said Walter Scott the rank of bart. in the year 1820, being the first title of distinction bestowed after his royal highness had obtained the unlimited exercise of the royal prerogative, and the only degree of bart. conferred in the course of that year. Sir Walter Scott, besides an infant child which d. soon after birth, 15 Oct. 1798, had the following surviving family,

1. CHARLOTTE-SOPHIA, m. 28 April 1820, John-Gibson Lockhart, esq. advocate, son of the rev. John Lockhart, D.D. of the family of Lockhart, of Wygateshaw, and d. 17 May 1837.

Sir Richard Shuckburgh, knt. father to the 1st bart. was representative co. Warwick in parliament 1641. Dugdale, in his History of Warwickshire, relates of him that, as king Charles I. marched to Edgcott, near Banbury, on 22 Oct. 1642, he saw him hunting in the fields; upon which he fetched a deep sigh, and asked, Who that gentleman was that hunted so merrily that morning, when he was going to fight for his crown and dignity? and being told it was sir Richard Shuckburgh, he was ordered to be called to him, and was very graciously received; upon which he went immediately home, armed all his tenants, and the next day attended on him in the field, where he was knighted, and was present at the battle of Edgehill. After his majesty's retreat from those parts, he went to his own seat and fortified himself on the top of Shuckburgh Hill, where, being attacked by some of the parliament forces, he defended himself till he fell, with most of his tenants about him; but being taken up, and life perceived in him, he was carried away prisoner, first to Northampton, and from thence to Kenilworth Castle, where he lay a considerable time, and was forced to purchase his liberty at a dear rate. CREST—A cubit arm erect, in armour, the hand grasping a broken tilting spear, all proper.

MOTTO over the crest—Toujours prest.
RESIDENCE—At Nutwood, co. Surrey.

THE family of Carmichael is of great antiquity in Scotland; the name local, assumed from the barony of Carmichael, co. Lanark. Sir John Carmichael commanded the Scotch auxiliary forces in the battle of Bauge, in Anjou, 1422, where he eminently distinguished himself, and more particularly by dismounting the duke of Clarence, the English general, which action decided the victory in favour of the French and Scotch. Having broken his spear in the encounter with the duke, he in memory of that action got added to his paternal arms (says Douglas) a hand holding a broken spear, which is now the crest of the family. This sir John was father of William, ancestor of the earls of Hyndford, extinct; and of Robert, who was ancestor of the Carmichaels of Balmaddy, of which house the present bart. is representative. The baronet's grandfather,

THOMAS CARMICHAEL, m. 3 May 1740, Margaret, eldest da. and heiress of James Smyth, of Athney, esq. and d. Dec. 1746, leaving issue by her (who d. 9 Aug. 1803) an only child, SEAT—Allanton House, co. Lanark.

This family is of great antiquity in co. Lanark, and is at the head of one of the most extensive branches of the house of Bonkle, being lineally descended from sir Robert Stewart, of Baldowie, 6th son of sir Robert Stewart, of Bonkle, or Bonkhill, son to Alexander, 6th lord high steward of Scotland, great-grandfather of king Robert II. the first prince of the Stewart line. About 1290, sir John bestowed the estate of Daldowie, on the river Clyde, part of his extensive possessions co. Lanark and co. Renfrew, in patrimony, on his son, sir Robert, and was himself killed at the battle of Falkirk, anno 1298, against Edward I. with many other of the Scotch nobility: sir Robert probably fought at Bannockburn, with the lord high steward, and the rest of his family, under king Robert Bruce; and we find that in the following year he, with three of his brothers, sir Alan, sir Walter, and sir Hugh, accompanied Edward

Bruce in the expedition to Ireland, 1315; and he was also present at the battle of Dundalk, 1318, where that adventurous prince at length terminated his career; from whom descended

JAMES, 10th baron of Allanton, and 19th in descent from the lord high steward of Scotland, b. 1715, m. 1754, his cousin Margaret, da. of Henry-Stewart Barclay, of Collierie, co. MOTTO—Cælestis canimus.

SEAT—Kiltrough, co. Meath.

THIS family was seated at Bridgenorth, co. Salop, at least as early as the commencement of the 16th century: the original name is said to have been Millington, but changed to Synge, from the circumstance of one of the family being a canon or chantry priest; this tradition however, though at least 200 years old, (for it is borne out by a pedigree of the date of 1623,) seems not a very probable one.

RICHARD SYNGE, of Bridgenorth, who was living 1623, had two sons, who both attained the mitre in Ireland; George, the eldest, was bishop of Cloyne, and d. 1653, leaving issue; and

EDWARD, the youngest, was successively bishop of Ardferit, Cork, Cloyne, and Ross, and d. 1678, leaving two sons, Samuel, dean of Kildare, and

2. CHARLOTTE, m. 29 Nov. 1809, major-general Charles Bulkeley Egerton, brother of sir John-Grey Egerton, of Oulton Park, co. Chester, bart.

Sir Thomas was brought up in the naval service of his country by admiral sir Edward Hughes, K.B. in the East Indies, and obtained his lieutenantancy 1780, was made a commander and post-captain 1782, and returned to England as captain of the admiral's ship 1785, having served in all the actions against the French in India, and was soon after selected to accompany commodore, afterwards admiral Blankett, upon a particular service in the Indian seas; on his return was captured by the French fleet, in the Castor frigate, and being a prisoner on board the Sans Pareille of 80 guns, in the glorious victory of lord Howe, 1 June 1794, was named by his lordship, upon her capture on that day, to command her; the admiralty immediately after appointed him to the Culloden, which he commanded under the earl St. Vincent in the action with the Spanish fleet, 14 Feb. 1797. Captain Trowbridge was dispatched by lord St. Vincent to lord Nelson, with eight sail of the line in the Mediterranean, and those ships, with the four Nelson had, destroyed the French fleet of superior force at the battle of the Nile, 1 Aug. 1798. Commodore Trowbridge was then separately and successfully employed on various and important services in the Mediterranean, and for his distinguished gallantry on various occasions was created a baronet of Great Britain, 30 Nov. 1799, with an honourable augmentation to his armorial bearings allusive to his services. On his return to England in the Culloden, 1801, he was selected by earl St. Vincent to be his lordship's captain of the channel fleet, and was afterwards appointed a lord of the admiralty, with his chief, the earl being appointed first lord thereof. On the promotion of flag officers, 23 April 1804, sir Thomas was made an admiral, and sent 1805, to the East Indies, and returning from that station was lost at sea in the Blenheim of 74 guns. Sir Thomas was succeeded by his only son,

II. Sir EDWARD-THOMAS, present bart.

THE MOST HONOURABLE MILITARY ORDER OF THE BATH.

From very early times it appears to have been the custom of the kings of England, on certain high ceremonies of a pacific nature, as coronations, royal marriages, and the creation of their eldest sons princes of Wales, to create a number of Knights, who from the ceremony of bathing, which they went through on the vigil of their creation, were denominated Knights of the Bath. The earliest instance of which we have any distinct record, is the coronation of king Henry IV. 1399; and the most recent that of king Charles II. In the year 1725, king George I. revived the Order, and enacted statutes for its regulation, by which it was ordained to consist of the SOVEREIGN and 37 KNIGHTS COMPANIONS. The apparel to consist of a surcoat and mantle of red silk lined with white; the badge, three imperial crowns, (typifying those of England, Scotland, and Ireland,) on a blue field encircled with the motto, TRIA JUNCTA IN UNO (three in one), The riband red.

By notification in the London Gazette, 2 Jan. 1215, it was declared, that "for the purpose of commemorating the auspicious termination of the long and arduous contests in which this empire has been engaged," the Order should be composed of three classes, viz.

1st Class—to consist of Knights Grand Crosses, number not to exceed seventy-two, exclusive of the sovereign and princes of the blood royal; twelve of the number may be appointed for civil and diplomatic services. This dignity not to be conferred upon any officer (except the above twelve) who shall not have attained the rank of major-general in the army, or rear-admiral in the navy, and must have been previously appointed to the second class.

2d Class—Knights Commanders, number not to exceed, upon the first institution, one hundred and eighty, exclusive of foreign officers holding British commissions, of whom not exceeding ten may be admitted as honorary knights commanders; in the event of actions of signal distinction, or of future wars, the number of this class may be increased. To be entitled to the distinctive appellation of knighthood; to have the same rights and privileges as knights bachelors, but to take precedence of them; to wear the badge, &c., pendent by a red riband round the neck, the star embroidered on the left side. No person is now eligible to this class under the rank of major-general in the army, or rear-admiral in the navy.

3d Class—Companions of the Order; not limited in number; they are to take precedence of esquires, but not entitled to the appellation, style, &c. of knights bachelors. To wear the badge assigned to the third class, pendent by a narrow red riband to the button-hole. No officer can be nominated unless he shall have received a medal, or other badge of honour, or shall have been especially mentioned in despatches in the London Gazette, as having distinguished himself in action.

The new badge for the military classes of the Order is a gold Maltese cross, of eight points, enamelled argent, in the four angles, a lion passant guardant, or; in the centre, the rose, thistle, and shamrock, issuant from a sceptre between three imperial crowns, or, within a circle gules; thereon the motto of the Order, surrounded by two branches of laurel proper, issuing from an escrol azure, inscribed ICH DIEN (I serve) in letters of gold, worn by the grand crosses pendent from a red riband across the right shoulder. The collar is of gold, weighing thirty ounces troy weight, and is composed of nine imperial crowns, and eight roses, thistle, and shamrock, issuing from a sceptre, enamelled in their proper colours, tied or linked together with seventeen gold knots, enamelled white, having the badge of the Order pendent therefrom. The star of the military grand crosses is formed of rays or flames of silver, thereon a gold Maltese cross, and in the centre, within the motto, branches of laurel, issuant as above described, three imperial crowns of gold, and is worn on the left side.

The civil knights grand crosses retain the old badge and star of the Order.

No knight can wear the collar before his installation, unless he receives a Warrant of Dispensation from the Sovereign.

The star of the commanders is in the form of a cross pattée of silver, having the same centre as the grand crosses, but no gold Maltese cross thereon.

See the collar, stars, and badges belonging to this Order, page xxviii.
